EVERYONE who knows Mr. J. K. Iosepa has been satisfied all along that the charges made against him by Mrs. Dominis were without foundation. Mr. Iosepa has now denied these charges in a manly and decisive article which carries its verification on its face.

MR. M. H. REUTER, of royalist speech-making fame, writes a letter this morning denying each and all of the allegations against his fair political fame. This letter will be found in another column, and it is so lucid, so concise, and is couched in such exquisite language that it must carry conviction to the heart of the most skeptical. It is fortunate for the Provisional Government that Mr. Reuter is so good an annexationist, for if he speaks as he writes, nothing can withstand his eloquence.

DR. BECKWITH preached his farewell sermon yesterday to the church which has enjoyed for so many years the privilege of his faithful oversight and care. The relations which have subsisted between church and pastor during these years have been relations of mutual helpfulness, sympathy and regard, and no one who has shared in them will witness Dr. Beckwith's retirement without regret. He has been a faithful servant, not merely of this church and this community, but of the larger cause to which the activities of his life have been dedicated. He now leaves Honolulu for a field which his advancing years will find less burdensome, if not less pleasant, and is followed not only by the blessings of his congregation, but by the kind wishes of all, of any creed or of no creed, who value goodness and honor good men.

A COMMUNICATION from Hilo, published elsewhere in this paper, contains some very sound sense on the political questions which agitate this country. Honolulu, like Paris, is undoubtedly too apt to forget that its population is not coextensive with the population of the entire group. The revolution was in the nature of the case, the work of the people here, but it was endorsed and is supported by the loyal annexationists of the other islands, who have hastened to bring the strength of their numbers to the service of the Provisional Government and who are entitled to equal consideration in determining its policy. The Annexation Club is not a thing of merely local growth, but spreads its branches throughout the group, and the opinions of its members are entitled to weight, wherever these may happen to be.

HAWAIIAN ELECTRIC COMPANY.

In our advertising columns will be found a notice from the Hawaiian Electric Company announcing that they have completed their extensive works on the corner of Alakea and Halekua streets, and are now prepared to furnish customers with incandescent lighting, and in a few days will also be ready to furnish electric motors for power.

We have been requested by the president to state that the works will be in full working operation this (Monday) evening, and the public are invited to call at the station, between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock, to inspect the machinery and premises.

We propose in a few days to furnish our readers with a full report of this electric plant, which has just been completed at a cost of over $100,000, and which would be a credit to a city of much larger proportions than Honolulu.

A CONTRAST.

There is food for reflection in the striking contrast between the policy of the Cleveland Administration in Hawaii and in Brazil. It is as national and American in the one case as it is un-American and devoid of national feeling in the other. In Brazil it appears the Cleveland Administration does not propose to permit any foreign interference, or the restoration of any monarchy. In Hawaii it does not propose to permit the maintenance of a republic, but proposes to intervene itself, in the interest of a monarchy. Why this extraordinary difference in the treatment of similar cases? Why is a thing fish in Hawaii which is fowl in Brazil?

It looks very much as though the zeal of the State Department in the Brazilian affair were intended as a counterweight to its Hawaiian blunder. Having been convicted of a gross want of feeling for the national policy and honor in Hawaii, it does not intend to be caught again. Hence all this zeal for Peixoto and his army.

It would not be kind to suppose that Mr. Cleveland found in the viciousness of the defunct Hawaiian monarchy anything akin to his own spirit. It cannot be because he recognizes a relative in the caput mortuum, that he has attempted to revive it with the galvanic battery of executive favor. Yet it is singular and it is disgraceful that he should feel so much sympathy for the fallen Liliuokalani when he may be presumed to have felt so little for the enlightened and philanthropic sovereign of Brazil. If ever a deposed monarch would seem to have deserved sympathy, it was Dom Pedro. He never attempted to subvert a constitution. He was not a crowned law breaker. Perjury was not laid to his charge. He did not attempt to change the order of a Christian constitutional state into a carnival of heathenism. On the contrary, he respected the laws, labored to improve the instruments of freedom, and was the friend and servant of the people. It is a pity there is no Hamlet in Cleveland's Cabinet to teach him to look on this picture and on that, and know the difference between Hyperion and a Satyr.

MR. PRATT'S FUNERAL.

Laid Away in the Nuuanu Valley Cemetery.

The funeral of the late Frank S. Pratt took place at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon from St. Andrew's Cathedral. A large concourse of people assembled to pay their respects to the deceased. The church was filled in every part. Many prominent citizens being present. As the hearse containing the body entered the Cathedral grounds, the Hawaiian National band struck up a funeral dirge, and played until the coffin entered the church, it being met at the front door by the Rev. Alex. Mackintosh who conducted the service. Slowly the procession marched up the aisle to the chancel while Mr. Mackintosh read the sentences beginning with the words "I am the resurrection and the life." After the reading of the psalm, the choir of the Second Congregation sang the hymn "Just as I am without one plea." Mr. Wray Taylor accompanying on the organ. The service in the church was concluded by the choir singing the hymn "Days and moments quickly flying." As the body was carried from the church to the hearse, Mr. Taylor played Handel's Dead March in Saul.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Wm. G. Irwin, Wm. F. Allen, A. S. Cleghorn, Godfrey Brown, Geo. J. Ross, J. O. Carter, Wm. Foster and Judge Whiting. There were also sixteen kahili bearers, eight on either side of the coffin, the lid of which was covered with most beautiful floral offerings. Major Seward had the entire charge of the funeral arrangements. Mrs. Pratt, widow of the deceased, occupied the front seat in the Cathedral.

The procession to the Nuuanu Cemetery where the interment took place, was headed by the Hawaiian National band, and a large number of carriages followed the hearse. The remains were committed to their final resting place by Mr. Mackintosh.

MR. IOSEPA'S REFUTATION.

He Denies the Statements of the Ex-Queen.

NO ADVICE AS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

He Scores Liliuokalani and Her Actions in a Convincing Manner—He Opposed the New Constitution, and Can Prove It.

The following letter from Mr. J. K. Iosepa is a convincing document, and a complete refutation of the ex-queen's charges against him.

EDITOR OF THE P. C. ADVERTISER: DEAR SIR:—I have seen in your paper, the statement by the queen of her reasons for promulgating a new constitution; and she has published my name as one of those who advised her to proclaim a new constitution. To this false testimony of the untruthful queen, I now oppose the truth. Not all the legions of Satan's pit can prove in behalf of the queen that J. K. Iosepa, representative of Hana district, ever went and advised this untruthful queen to proclaim a new constitution. Neither can the drums of that queen's two ears testify to a single word that J. K. Iosepa ever whispered in her ears.

There is the most positive proof of my opposition to the constitution which the Queen secretly prepared with her circle, and of which I never heard from the Queen that she designed to make a new constitution. It is this:—In the Legislative assembly I made a strong speech on the side against the Bill to call a convention of delegates to make a new constitution, and my speech is recorded in the book of minutes of the Legislative session of A. D. 1892, and was also published in all the newspapers. Like a dragon-fly beating against a window-pane, the Queen is striking wildly to obtain some credit for her testimony and to gain some advantage for her side. I therefore make this public statement that all may understand this doing of this untruthful Queen.

J. K. IOSEPA,
Representative of Hana District
in the Legislature of A. D. 1892.
Hana, Maui, Jan. 12th, 1894.

It is said that one-sixth of plantation laborers' time is consumed in keeping their cane knives sharp. This we believe is owing to the fact that files are used for the purpose and a lasting edge is not put on the blade. The Frank Walcott Emery File must very soon supplant the file as a whet stone, because the effect is quicker and the result much more satisfactory. We've been sharpening all sorts of cutlery during the past week with one of these sharpeners and find we can put an edge on a knife or a pair of scissors quicker with it than by any other means. We sell them for half a dollar and the supply is limited; order now if you want one.

Now that the plantation managers are working day and night to produce sugar and sell it for a shade less than it costs to make it, it is necessary for them to practice economy at every corner. We can help them materially in the matter of supplies, because our prices are considerably less than in other stores and the quality of the goods superior to the average run. We have had wonderful success with our Colorado brand of lubricating oils, because they are manufactured of the very best ingredients. The engine oil has taken the place of lard oil on many plantations and there is no reason why it should not on all. There's economy in using these oils just as there is in using the Hendry Breaker and the Hendry Double Furrow plows. If you can save time of two or four mules or horses you are just that much in pocket, because you can use them for other purposes. Our stock of plantation supplies is complete.
